AGRICULTURAL DEPOT .- The success of Messra. RANSON & DUKE, in establishing an Agricultural Depot of the first class in our town, has proved alike encouraging to the energy and enterprise of its founders, as it is to the community at large, in witnessing daily the invaluable inventions in agriculture that are being distributed throughout the country. Though money is so scarce, our farmers manifest a disposition to obtain whatever may lessen the cost of production, and supply to some extent the labor of which they have been deprived, if it be at the sacrifice of all other expenditures. This house has been in operation scarce two months, and several thousand dollars of the most improved inventions have been distributed through our own and neighboring counties. Selling all articles at city prices, with catalogues to them, (freight added,) no necessity exists of going elsewhere for any article the farmer may need-if not on hand, it will be ordered at once from the most reliable houses of the East. The stock at present on hand, as we casually noticed in passing, embraces Bickford & Heffman's superior Wheat Drill, Baker's Double-screen Fan, Ploughs of every variety, approved Cutting Boxes, Iron Pumps, Water Drawers, a new and most capital invention, every variety of Wooden Ware, and in short every article needed in the agricultural line. These gentlemen are also Agents for the sale and delivery of all the improved manures, and every variety of Seeds, which will be warranted as recommended. See advertisements from time to time, as to the additions being made to

HAINES STILL IN THE VAN .- On Friday last whilst in our sanctum, our attention was attracted by the noise of the mingled voices of a bevy of urchins on the street below us, and hearing one of them exclaim, "It is a monument, monument for the soldiers; cant you see it is?" we were curious enough to see what was going on. On looking out the window we beheld in front of the Tobacco Store of Mr. J. H. HAINES, a huge pyramid of boxes, with neat figures of Cigars, Tobacco, Pipes, and everything pertaining to the tobacco and eigar business, painted upon it in true artistic style, which had been procured by Mr. H. to be used instead of the old-fashioned, ungainly "Indian."

The painting was in the hands of Mr. W. B. MILLER, of Shepherdstown, and we understand was principally executed by Mr. JAS. N. SMALL, of this place, (now in the employment of Mr. M.,) who bids fair to become an expert in the art.

If you wish to smoke a genuine Havana. don't forget to look for the store with the "Monument" in front of it!

CELEBRATION,-The "Pic Nic" to be hell on Tursday next, by the Episcopal Metho-dist Sabbath School, at Cooke's Woods near town, will doubtless be an agreeable affair .-The teachers and children of the school are to meet at the Church at 7 o'clock, A. M., so as to take up the line of procession at 8 .-The friends of the school generally are invited to be present-joining in the procession and participating in the services of the day. For the kind invitation specially extended to the corps editorial, we are under many obligations. The "basket" will be a desirable adjunct in the necessary provision for the

- We learn that quite a revival is in progress in the Presbyterian Church at Elk Branch, in this county, now under the pastoral charge of Rev. Mr. BILLINGS. He has been assisted by Rev. Messrs. Bedinger, Lupton, Bell and others, and the meetings still in progress, with encouraging prespects of good results. Mr. Billings, we are also informed, has received a call to the Presbyterian Church of Shepherdstown, and Mr. Bedinger to that of Elk Branch, so long, ably and acceptably supplied by the former.

—We have heard of several collisions among the "Freedmen" on Sabbath last, but as we have neither State, corporate or other authority to control such infractions of law and order, we shall put them down as. s charge to the general disorder and confu-tion of the times.

MELONS.—The first melons of the season were received by Capt. Avis on Saturday, and were relished with a gusto by many of our epicureans. He expects another large and fresh supply on to-morrow or Thursday, and regularly through the season if circumstances justify. -Howaboutour corporate authorities! Are they dead or sleeping? Their official existence has been now near two months, and if its evidence exists anywhere, the lynx eyed optic of the most acute among us, has been unable to discover it. ACCIDENT .- We regret to state that Miss

NANNIE FORREST, a most estimable young lady of our town, was severely injured by a fall from the vehicle in which she was return-

THANKS.—Our thanks are due Messrs.

ROASTING EARS .- The first roasting ears of the season, appeared in our market on Saturday last. They were produced upon the farm of Mr. SOLOMON FLEMING, and were retailed at 15 cents per dozen.
